

Alexander, Kerry

From: UNITED TEACHERS OF LOWELL <utl@utlowell495.org>
Sent: Monday, March 25, 2019 12:00 PM
To: Hackbart, Hilary (DLS); Alexander, Kerry; Durkin, Jeannine; Underwood, Rick
Cc: Marianne Dumont
Subject: STEM School

BOTH
4-3-19

FYI...

- Last week a teacher moved her easel for parent conferences and found a pile of mouse droppings. Not wanting to leave that for parents to see, she cleaned it up. Unfortunately, since she is very allergic to rodents, she ended the night with allergy symptoms including a swollen face.
- Another teacher cleaned out all of the supplies - mostly purchased with her own funds - from her classroom closet to throw them away because there has been so much mouse activity the supplies were ruined.
- Another teacher said she has given up on all the supplies in her classroom closet - again, mostly purchased with her own funds - and just hopes someone will clean it out over the summer.
- I start most mornings by cleaning mouse droppings from surfaces.

We are tracking daily rodent problems and reporting them to administration.

Alexander, Kerry

From: Durkin, Jeannine <JDurkin@lowell.k12.ma.us>
Sent: Monday, March 25, 2019 1:10 PM
To: UTL; Hackbart, Hilary (DLS); Alexander, Kerry; Underwood, Rick
Cc: Marianne Dumont
Subject: RE: STEM School

Thank you for this information. We need to have information on the room numbers in order to address the matter.

From: UNITED TEACHERS OF LOWELL [<mailto:utl@utlowell495.org>]
Sent: Monday, March 25, 2019 12:00 PM
To: Hackbart, Hilary (DLS); Alexander, Kerry; Durkin, Jeannine; Underwood, Richard
Cc: Marianne Dumont
Subject: STEM School

FYI...

- Last week a teacher moved her easel for parent conferences and found a pile of mouse droppings. Not wanting to leave that for parents to see, she cleaned it up. Unfortunately, since she is very allergic to rodents, she ended the night with allergy symptoms including a swollen face.
- Another teacher cleaned out all of the supplies - mostly purchased with her own funds - from her classroom closet to throw them away because there has been so much mouse activity the supplies were ruined.
- Another teacher said she has given up on all the supplies in her classroom closet - again, mostly purchased with her own funds - and just hopes someone will clean it out over the summer.
- I start most mornings by cleaning mouse droppings from surfaces.

We are tracking daily rodent problems and reporting them to administration.